HERITAGE ALTERNATIVE FUND, a Swiss fund of funds with special risks („the Fund“), is an umbrella fund investing in underlying alternative funds, the risks of which are not comparable with those of traditional investment funds. The underlying funds are of a variety of types, open-ended or closed end, that may or may not be listed on recognised stock exchanges or other public regulated markets and that may be of any legal form. Investors should be aware of the increased risks associated with investing in these funds, particularly as to the possible partial or total loss of their investment. To mitigate the risk of loss, the Fund’s investment manager undertakes strict and rigorous selection and monitoring of the underlying funds and their managers whilst diversifying their investment strategies. Besides the market and currency risks, investors’ attention is drawn to the risks associated with investment management, liquidity of shares in the underlying funds, liquidity of the funds’ investments, the impact of share redemptions, the pricing of Fund shares, service providers, lack of transparency and legal risks. These risks are commented more fully in the prospectus. The purchase of shares is conditional upon the signature of a subscription agreement. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Performance data does not take account of subscription fees or other transaction charges that may be payable by investors. The Fund is not available for sale in the US or to US persons and its sale is restricted in certain other jurisdictions including the UK.
